Sahara Marchers Start Pulling Out

AGADIR, Morocco (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Moroccans began pulling out of the Spanish Sahara today after King Hassan II declared that their march to claim the territory for Morocco had "achieved its objective." But officials stressed the 350,000 volunteers would remain near the border to strengthen the king's bargaining power.

Hassan, announcing the withdrawal in a telecast Sunday night, said he would return from his command post at Agadir to Marrakech to resume negotiations on the future of the 105,000-square-mile Spanish colony.

Informed sources said Spain and Morocco agreed that sovereignty over the Spanish Sahara should be handed to the United Nations, which would place the territory under a temporary three-party administration of Moroccan, Mauritanian and local Saharan officials.

Meanwhile, the officials said, negotiators would try to resolve the conflict between the claims of Morocco and Mauritania to the territory and the demand of Algeria and Spain that the 80,000 Saharan people be allowed to determine their future status in a referendum.

The officials stressed that the marchers would withdraw only as far as Tarfaya, 18 miles north of the border, and would not return to their homes "for the time being."

The unarmed civilians, brought from every part of Morocco by train, truck and bus, began marching into the Spanish Sahara on Thursday and continued pouring over the border for three days.

Advancing in three columns, the marchers penetrated about six miles into the territory. The first group went in south of Tarfaya on the road to El Aaiun, the territorial capital, and stopped 2½ miles short of a military defense line the Spanish army set up to block them.

The other two columns crossed over more than 100 miles to the east. One column was reported only 30 miles from the border of Algeria, where Algerian armored units were reported deployed in combat readiness.

King Hassan's speech was evidently an outcome of his half-hour meeting in Agadir on Saturday with Spanish cabinet minister Antonio Carro Martinez. The king did not refer to the meeting in his speech, but Moroccan officials said a declaration on the Spanish Sahara would be made soon by the Spanish government shortly.

Morocco claims the phosphate-rich northern part of the territory and Mauritania the southern portion.

New York Plan Pounded Out; President Remains Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and four other Democrats are presenting President Ford a proposal to provide New York City with federal loan guarantees.

But Ford remains strongly opposed to any legislation that will help the city avoid default.

"I'm always hopeful that we can work together, but with the deadline (for default) extending anywhere from Nov. 14 on, I think it is time to face up to this situation," Mansfield said of the meeting today.

Joining the Montana Democrat are Sens. William Proxmire of Wisconsin,

Ohio Shale Said Rich With Gas

CLEVELAND (AP) — An Ohio Energy Emergency Commission (OEEC) official says there is enough natural gas locked in Ohio shale to make Ohio "the Saudia Arabia of America by 1985."

Martin Peter Kochman, senior staff specialist for OEEC, says the potential of the shale gas reserves underlying a 10-state area may be found to measure in the quadrillions, which would make it greater than the present proven gas reserves of the entire country.

However, OEEC officials and others say if there actually is that much gas in the Ohio shale formation, the problem is how to get it out of the rock.

Kochman and Peter E. Susey, executive director of the commission, hope that research will develop methods such as massive hydraulic fracturing of shale or explosive fractures to boost shale well production.

In areas where the shale has been fractured naturally, such as the Big Sandy gas field on the border of West Virginia and Kentucky, shale wells are producing respectable amounts of gas. A well brought in in this area last summer by Consolidated Natural Gas Co. is producing one million cubic feet of gas a day.

William F. Morse, director of research for the Columbia Gas System Service Corp., says there are 250,000 square miles of Devonian shale in the basin stretching from Michigan to Alabama.

chairman of the Senate Banking Committee; Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, chairman of the Budget Committee; majority whip Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, a Banking Committee member.

In an appearance Sunday on the NBC program "Meet the Press," Ford defended anew his insistence that there be no federal financial aid to help New York City stave off default.

The President said he has advice from administration experts, has studied the views of others and finds that the weight of the evidence is that there will be no serious financial ramifications in U.S. money markets if New York defaults on its debts.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill predicted last week that despite the veto threat Ford will sign predefault aid legislation.

Meanwhile, New York Gov. Hugh Carey, Mayor Abraham Beame and teachers union president Albert Shanker were to testify today before the Joint Economic Committee.

Ford has proposed Bankruptcy Act amendments to enable a federal court to manage New York City's fiscal problems after default, insuring that vital services such as fire and police be maintained.

The House Judiciary Committee is expected to approve a change in the bankruptcy laws proposed by Rep. Robert Drinan, D-Mass.

Under the bill, and contrary to Ford's proposal, New York City would not have to balance its budget after any default but only operate under a "reasonable" one.

Tourism Confab Held Near Huron

HURON, Ohio (AP) — The tenth annual Governor's Conference on Tourism was to be held Nov. 9-11 at the Sawmill Creek Lodge.

The conference, sponsored jointly by the Ohio Travel Council and the Ohio Department of Economic and Community, is to help promote Ohio and interest in the travel industry.

Gov. James A. Rhodes will present the "Paul Sherlock Award" to individuals and firms who have made outstanding contributions to tourism in the state at the final banquet Nov. 11.

Anti-Zionism Vote Could Bring Pullout

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The anti-Israeli bloc in the U.N. General Assembly claimed enough votes for passage today of one of the most controversial measures of the current assembly session, the resolution condemning Zionism as a form of racial discrimination.

The assembly was considered certain to approve two other Arab resolutions in support of Palestinian rights. But Western members were making a determined attempt to get the anti-Zionism resolution shelved for at least a year. Delegates of the nine-nation European Economic Community said either they or some African countries would move for postponement of the measure, which has split the once-solid Asian-African bloc.

The assembly's social committee on Oct. 17 rejected a postponement motion by Sierra Leone by a vote of 65-40. The committee went on to endorse the resolution by a vote of 70-29 with 27 countries abstaining and 16 absent. Thus less than half the U.N. members cast affirmative votes for the resolution.

Since then extraordinary opposition has been mobilized against the resolution in the United States and other Western nations. America's chief U.N. delegate, Daniel Patrick Moynihan, warned that adoption of it would give international legality to anti-Semitism and could force the United States to disassociate itself from the Assembly.

Zionism is the movement for a Jewish national homeland in Palestine which brought Israel into being in 1948. Supporters of the resolution contend that Zionism is racist because it is exclusionist, and that anti-Zionism is not the same as anti-Semitism. But diplomatic sources said the resolution was devised by the Palestine Liberation Organization and the Arab countries as a substitute for their earlier unsuccessful campaign to oust Israel from the United Nations.

Israel said the resolution was the first organized assault on the Jews since the Nazi era. The U.S. House of Representatives in a resolution sponsored by 436 of its 437 members asked the General Assembly to reject the resolution.

The two resolutions on Palestine are a followup to the assembly's actions last year recognizing Palestinian rights to nationhood and the right of return to lands occupied by Israel since 1948, and giving the Palestine Liberation Organization observer status at the United Nations.

Reagan-Ford Political War Shapes Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key strategist for Ronald Reagan says the former California governor will challenge President Ford in "as many primaries as possible" for the 1976 Republican presidential nomination.

But the strategist, James H. Lake, dismissed President Ford's statement Sunday that all GOP candidates should run in all of the 30 or 31 primaries, rather than "entering some and ducking others."

"The President of the United States has always been expected in his party's primaries to take on all comers and defeat them," Lake said in an interview, adding that a challenger such as Reagan needs only to build momentum in a crosssection of early primaries to establish himself as a serious contender.

He said Reagan will enter as many primaries as he can under the limits of the federal law limiting a candidate's primary spending to $10 million. Ford had said that, in view of limits on time and money, he won't campaign in all the primaries he enters.

Peter Hannaford, another Reagan aide, said Reagan would ultimately enter "a great many" primaries, if he decides to run.

Lake said the extent of the Reagan effort in the March 2 Massachusetts primary remains under study. All declared candidates are placed on the Massachusetts ballot.

Lake said Reagan will make a whirlwind two-day swing to four of the first five primary states — New Hampshire, Florida, Illinois and North Carolina — after formally announcing his candidacy Nov. 20.

Meanwhile, another possible GOP entry, Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, cited the Massachusetts filing deadline of Jan. 2 when asked on ABC's "Issues and Answers" when a decision on running would have to be made. But Mathias declined to say if he considered that a cut-off date for his own possible candidacy.

Reagan, in an interview with Time magazine, said the withdrawal of Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller will neither help nor hurt Ford. Noting Ford controls the party machinery, Reagan said, "If I decide to run, maybe there's a little David and Goliath to this thing."

Ford, who appeared on the 28th anniversary program of NBC's "Meet the Press," acknowledged for the first time that "a growing tension" within his administration led to last week's decision to fire Secretary of Defense

CHS Golfers Co-Champions Of League

Circleville High School's golf team was co-champion of the South Central Ohio League along with Wilmington, Coach Steve Brudzinski learned at the coaches meeting Sunday.

The Tigers finished with a 10-2 record and placed three golfers on the all-league. Wilmington also finished the season with a 10-2 record, losing the last match to Greenfield.

Keith Sanders, Mike McCoy and Mike McKelvey were the three Tigers making the first team. Sanders along with F. Hamilton of Greenfield averaged 38.87 strokes per round to pace the first round selections. McCoy posted an average of 39.12, McKelvey an average of 39.5 and K. Barrett of Wilmington an average of 39.9.

Second team all league selections were: M. Barnett, Unioto; B. Burton, T. Berlin, D. Nelson, all of Wilmington; J. Moore, Washington C. H.; R. Timmons, Madison Plains; Sharkey, Hillsboro.

Rounding out the league standings Greenfield and Hillsboro were tied for third with 7-5 records, Madison Plains was fifth at 4-8, Washington C. H. and Unioto tied for last with 2-10 records.

James R. Schlesinger.

The President made the statement just minutes after declaring he had given "the simple truth" at last Monday's news conference when he denied that the change was prompted by policy or personal differences between Schlesinger and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

"This doesn't mean that either of those individuals was not performing his job in a very effective way, but for me to do the job as well as I possibly can, I need feeling of comfort within an organization — no tension, complete cohesion — and it doesn't necessarily mean that those individuals agreed in every precise detail," Ford said.

A White House spokesman later emphasized that Ford was talking about personalities rather than policies when the President described "the growing tension" between Kissinger and Schlesinger.

FIFTH ANNUAL — Over 200 Pickaway County youth participated in the fifth annual CROP Walk Sunday. A sunshiner day could not have been requested than the one supplied as the group walked 10 miles from the Circleville Junior High School and ending at the Jefferson Church of Christ in Christian Union. Walkers will be collecting their sponsors pledge money to be taken to the Community United Methodist Church, 1-4 p.m. Sunday. Marvin Widmar, Sheriff's Auxiliary Deputy, assisted for the fifth year as an escort.

Weather Aids Gas Curtailment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A second week of natural gas curtailments to many Ohio industries began today after an opening stage marked by confusion but little immediate impact, thanks partly to unseasonably warm weather.

"There's a hell of a lot of confusion," one spokesman for Columbia Gas of Ohio said. "We've been receiving telephone calls and telegrams from plants being curtailed 100 per cent, saying 'help, we're going to be hurt.'"

Columbia, Ohio's largest supplier, and the hardest hit by shortages, began a 100 per cent curtailment last week to all industrial customers with capability to convert to alternate fuels.

The giant utility had planned a pro rata reduction of 45 per cent on industrial loads through March 31 to allow these firms a "lead time" to make the changeover to other fuels.

But that plan was scrapped when the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) ordered that curtailments must not exceed 10 per cent to non-convertible industries and those using natural gas for pilot lights or feedstock (raw materials).

Surprised by the modification, Columbia was forced to cut back sharply on customers who could convert, in order to provide the 90 per cent load for the other plants.

In addition, the PUCO said natural gas could not be curtailed to food processors or greenhouses. Columbia's application for a total ban on the use of gas under large industrial boilers at about 300 factories was allowed, without any alteration.

By midweek, protests from manufacturers, uncertain of their status under the regulatory order, resulted in a second PUCO directive designed to avert shutdowns at plants unable to make a quick adjustment.

The order said applications for emergency relief could be made through Dec. 31, with an answer from the state in "about 48 hours."

Columbia officials were hopeful by late last week that the second order might bail out industrial customers faced unexpectedly with cutbacks ranging from 70 to 100 per cent.

It was difficult to assess how badly industry in this category was hurt during the first week. Gas was, and is, still in the lines and there was nothing to prevent factories from turning it on and face the consequences later in the five-month heating season.

Columbia, which monitors load levels, will presumably take action

ROUNDTOWN

PUMPKIN Show incorporated heaved a sigh of relief last week. Members of the organization learned the dates for the 1976 Pumpkin Show will remain the same.

Earlier there was a possibility that it may be advanced a week. Dates for the 1976 event had already been publicized when this possibility came to light, and could have created mass confusion had the date of the festival been changed.

For many years it has begun the third Wednesday in October and will again next year.

against customers violating the curtailment order.

"I get up every morning praying for 60 degree weather," said William Costello, energy coordinator for the Ohio Manufacturers Association. "The more of that weather we get, the more gas we'll have in January."

While no shutdowns or layoffs were reported, Costello said, "We've had some people awfully close to closing down." The industry representative listed as in danger: Dayton Malleable, the Columbus plant; Ashland Chemical, Ironton; General Brick, Logan; and Central Silica Co. and Columbia Cement, both in Zanesville.

Perk Reports Threat On Life

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk says the tight security measures being provided for his inauguration today were prompted by recent threats against his life.

The inauguration ceremonies for Perk's third term as mayor of Cleveland were set for 11:30 a.m. at Public Music Hall.

Perk said the special measures would include plainclothes policemen posted in the audience.

Six Boy Scouts Earn Eagle Badge

SIX EAGLE SCOUTS — Six Scouts from Troop 343 of Five Points received the Eagle Award in ceremonies held Sunday at the United Methodist Church. Present for the ceremony from the left, was Tom Finch, scoutmaster; Sam Hart, Dennis Finch, Keith Kern, Ted Everman, George Kern, Chuch Bowers and Jerry Rasor, guest speaker.

Six Boy Scouts of Troop 343 received the Eagle badge, symbol of Scouting's highest achievement in ceremonies Sunday evening, at the Five Points United Methodist Church. Pickaway County native and Columbus television newsman Jerry Rasor was the featured speaker and recognized the six Eagle Scouts.

Introduced by Eagle Scout Jim Akison, Rasor noted the change he has found in young people through his associations with them. Calling life a learning experience, he noticed that any organization is made up of bones. There are the jawbones, who do all the talking, the knucklebones, who criticize every idea, and the backbones who do all the work. Each boy makes the troop what it is.

Speaking on patriotism, Rasor said, "Anyone can be a patriot. Anyone who sincerely believes in achieving the goals on which our nation is based is a patriot. Their motivation is love for country and their only reward is that, when they leave, this nation will be better."

One of his fondest memories, he said, was former scout John Glenn's public display of national pride on returning from man's first earth orbit in outer space. He expressed a sincere hope that he, like Glenn, will never lose his sincere feeling of patriotism in America. Rasor said, "we all take this nation for granted. Never take this nation for granted."

Noting that the top people in each field did what was expected of them, met obligations, accepted responsibility, were friends, could be counted on in emergencies and then some.

Rasor said, "Scouting's spirit of service can be summed up in three words—'And then some'. Only one per cent of all Scouts achieve the Eagle award each year. The Eagle badge represents strength of character. It shows what a boy will do when he grows into manhood. Here are young Christians abiding by the teachings of their various religious orders."

Rasor concluded his speech with a poem in which he said that the dreams, loves, happiness, values, thoughts, worth, truths, destinies of, and help a person gives is only as great as the life he lives.

Rasor introduced each Eagle Scout and their parents, and told of each boy's progression through the various ranks towards Eagle.

The Eagle charge was given by Scoutmaster Tom Finch. Receiving the award were, Charles Bower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bower; Ted Everman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Everman; Dennis Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Finch; Sam Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hart; all of Route 3, Mt. Sterling, and Keith and George Kern, sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Kern Sr., Route 1, Williamsport.

It marked the second time in Pickaway County that two brothers simultaneously received the award and the first time six were awarded the Eagle badge together. They join five other scouts from Troop 343 who have earned the award.

Rasor then read a letter each scout received from the chief scout executive. Gillis Conley, institutional representative to the troop from the sponsoring Monroe Men's Club, presented a desk set to Scoutmaster Tom Finch for his outstanding leadership in Scouting. Honored guest was John Young, district scout executive. Refreshments were served in the basement following the ceremony.

By The Associated Press
Rain, thunderstorms and high winds greeted Ohioans on their way to work and school today after three days of pleasant, warm weather that was unexpected for November.

A line of severe thunderstorms swept across Lake Erie and into the state during the early morning hours accompanied by winds clocked at up to 52 miles per hour in some areas.

The National Weather Service reported a tornado in Hancock County southwest of Findlay at 6:20 a.m., but the Hancock County sheriff's office could not confirm the report.

Winds in the northwest Ohio area gusted to 52 miles per hour at one point during the morning.

A barn was flattened in the southwest corner of Hancock County and some damage was reported to houses and trees. No injuries were reported. Tornado warnings and severe thunderstorm warnings were issued for Seneca, Wyandot, Huron, Erie and Wyandot counties as the storms swept southeastward across the state.

High winds downed power lines in several communities in northwest McComb County shortly after 6 a.m.

Quinlan Decision Appeal Seen

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Whatever the decision by a state judge on whether Karen Ann Quinlan's respirator should be shut off, she will continue to depend on the machine for her life during the expected appeals to higher courts.

Superior Court Judge Robert Muir Jr. was to issue his ruling this afternoon on the suit brought last September by Joseph Quinlan. He is asking to be named guardian of his comatose 21-year-old daughter with the specific purpose of ordering the respirator disconnected so she can "die with dignity."

Attorney Paul W. Armstrong, representing the family, said Sunday that if the request is denied, he would study the ruling and then ask Quinlan and his wife, Julia, whether they want to appeal the case. It was likely that they would, he added.

New Jersey Atty. Gen. William F. Hyland, who joined the case to argue the state's responsibility to safeguard the "sanctity of life," has said he expects the case will go to the New Jersey Supreme Court quickly, perhaps by the end of the year.

The 50-year-old Quinlan's suit asserts that doctors have determined that his daughter has already sustained irreparable brain damage, and he has asked the court specifically to allow him to have the respirator shut off.

Miss Quinlan has been in a coma and connected to the respirator in the intensive care unit at St. Clare's Hospital in Denville since April 25.

'Squeaky' May Stay Out Of Court

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme's trial on charges of attempting to murder President Ford may resume with the Charles Manson disciple out of the courtroom and ignoring the proceedings entirely.

Miss Fromme, ousted from the courtroom twice at the last session Friday, was told by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride that she could return today if she promises to refrain from disrupting the proceedings by demanding that Manson be allowed to testify.

But Miss Fromme vowed that she wouldn't return to the courthouse unless officers carry her from the county jail.

When she was removed from the courtroom, she refused to watch the proceedings on closed-circuit television set up especially for her in a federal marshal's office.

Miss Fromme also is no longer acting as her own attorney, as MacBride had earlier permitted. MacBride appointed Sacramento lawyer John Virga to represent her for the rest of the trial. Miss Fromme had fired Virga last week when he agreed with MacBride and the prosecution in their blocking of her first attempt to enter a no-contest plea to the charges.

Miss Fromme is charged with attempting to assassinate Ford as he walked near the California Capitol on Sept. 5. She is the first person to be tried for the attempted murder of a president under the federal law passed after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. If convicted, she could get a life sentence.

Norwalk Jaycees Host Outstanding Farmer Program

The Norwalk Jaycees are hosting for the State of Ohio the Outstanding Young Farmer program, a contest open to all Ohio Farmers between the ages of 18 to 35.

The Jaycees would like to honor the back-bone of the nation and help the public better understand how vital the farmer is today. However this program cannot be presented without the main ingredient and that's the Ohio farmer.

The Selection of winning farmers will be based on Career Progress, Conservation practiced, and service to the community. The winner will be presented an award at a local awards banquet, and then be eligible for the State convention, which will be held at Sawmill Creek in Huron, Ohio Feb. 6, 7, 8.

All expenses will be paid for the winning farmer. Persons knowing a young farmer who would like to participate should contact the local Jaycee chapter.

Since this program is so large the Jaycees are inviting any one interested in helping sponsor the program to call the State Chairman, Bob Freeman, in Norwalk, Ohio.

The winning farmer for the state of Ohio will receive the use of a brand new model 6600 Ford tractor, donated by Ford Motor Company, for six months, plus other gifts.

Red Cross To Include Choking Therapy In Safety Program

The American National Red Cross, as a result of an October 27 conference in its Washington, D. C. Headquarters, will soon incorporate in its safety and nursing educational programs a new technique to aid choking victims. The organization's goal is to save the lives of persons who might ordinarily die from blocked air passages.

The problems of blocked air passages have received considerable attention as a result of the work of Dr. Henry J. Heimlich, Director of Surgery, The Jewish Hospital of Cincinnati, who has developed a maneuver to respond to problems of the so-called "cafe coronary", that is, obstruction of a person's airway, usually by food, causing asphyxiation and possible death within minutes. The procedure is to manually force air from the victim's lungs to expel an obstruction, allowing normal breathing to resume.

Chaired by Dr. Sam F. Seeley, retired staff representative of the Emergency Medical Services Committee at the National Academy of Sciences the conferees considered such topics as: Recognition of an airway obstruction, techniques to relieve an obstruction and sequence of using procedures.

A draft of the materials coming out of the conference is to be prepared and circulated to the conference participants for their final comments and recommendations. Following this review an illustrated pamphlet will be developed for use in the Red Cross instructional programs. This will provide interim procedures pending a more complete statement of the effectiveness of this subject from the National Academy of Sciences in the spring of 1976.

Participants in the conference besides Dr. Heimlich were physicians involved in current research on this topic and those having background and knowledge in this subject area. Research papers, articles and notes were distributed among the participants before the conference so that the conferees arrived in Washington aware of each other's progress.

The Red Cross was represented by Mr. Robert G. Wick, vice president;

Mr. Robert M. Oswald, administrator of the Red Cross Community Education and Health Programs; and members of the National Safety Programs staff. Present also were representatives of the American Heart Association, American Medical Association and the Canadian Red Cross. Stimulated by the work of Dr. Heimlich, Dr. Archer S. Gordon, Research Physiologist, Department of Anesthesia, UCLA Medical Center, and others, the Community Education and Health Programs of the Red Cross is seeking this information as part of its ongoing effort to provide the best emergency first aid instruction to the nation.

Youth Hurt Walking In CROP Walk

Twelve-year-old Kevin F. Cook, 1560 Quimby Road, was treated and released at Berger Hospital for a sprained ankle he received while walking with the CROP Walk, 2:50 p.m. Sunday.

Walking west on the Circleville-Tarleton Road, the Cook lad stepped across the center yellow line and walked into a westbound car driven by Betty Louise Imler of Kingston.

Deputy J. Phillip Brown investigated the incident.

Tecumseh, greatest of all the warlike Shawnee Indian chiefs, was born near Springfield in 1768. His name meant "Shooting Star."

A Page Of Opinion

Britain's Challenge

Britain's depth of despair over rampaging inflation, rising unemployment, trade imbalances and general economic malice has been described by some observers as akin to the desperate straits the nation found itself in when Hitler's Germany zeroed in on Britain as a primary objective in 1940.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healy, using the 1940 analogy, predicts that 1976 will be the decisive year for his nation. While it is true in a general context that history does repeat itself, it seldom does so quite in the same way.

When there is a spangle of frost on the lawn, and a walking man can see his breath, the Farmer's Almanac is at hand. It arrived in the main — the 159th edition — and I have culled it for my annual chuckles:

"Bachelors, like detergents, work fast and leave no rings." "A neighbor is someone who advises you what to buy so he can borrow it later." "Bumper Sticker: Unemployment isn't working."

Ray Geiger of Lewiston, Maine, is the current editor of the Farmer's Almanac. Lewiston is the place where Rudy Vallee's father owned a drugstore. It is also the town where Sonny Liston knocked himself out trying to avoid Cassius Clay's flicking, kissable right hand.

The Almanac predicts the weather a year ahead of time. Christmas, 1976, looks like this: "Clearing time. Light snow Wisconsin-Minnesota area eastward then, fair cold. Fair, cold plains states and west. Showers Texas, over southeast, then fair, cold."

"A sense of humor is what makes you laugh at something which would make you mad if it happened to you."

"Oh ye Fates, deliver me From following that nitwit lout, Who drives so nonchalantly With his left arm dangling out."

I feel that astrology is astronomical hokum, so I looked up my wife's horoscope to prove it. It says: "Pisces — natural lovers, fickle, fruitful, easily led, honest, sensitive, cultured, fond of beauty in nature and art. Generous, pure of mind and trustworthy."

The defense rests.

"Sign in a shop: If we don't have it you're better off without it. Sign on a cash register: To insure incorrect change please talk to the cashier. Sign on a tire truck: Invite us to your next blowout." One sign they didn't have appeared in the window of a small bank: Jesus Saves.

"A little boy came home from school. His mother asked him what he had learned. 'I learned that 4 plus 4 makes 9.' 'But that's wrong,' his mama said. 'In that case,' the little boy said, 'I didn't learn anything.'"

"Husband comes home carrying a big package. Wife: What did you buy? Husband: I don't know what it is. Wife: Then why did you buy it? Husband: The salesman said you can't get them anymore."

Stephen Schlitzer wrote an ode to a

The Britain of 1975 is not a carbon copy of the Britain of 1940.

Thirty-five years ago Britain still maintained its colonial empire, the source of much of the raw material input the nation needed to feed its industrial capacity. Perhaps more importantly, Britons in the earlier year were faced with a direct military threat and united unstintingly under the leadership of Winston Churchill to accept whatever sacrifices were necessary to win the battle.

There was another difference as well. The welfare state had not yet come to Britain. The emphasis was still on the creation of wealth, the magic of growth through investment. For years the emphasis has been toward a redistribution of a dwindling wealth.

Whether Britain can survive as a parliamentary democracy through the critical year of 1976 will depend in large measure upon the current depth of the same indomitable spirit which carried an earlier generation through its own days of despair.

The Almanac says that there are three things we can attain by giving them away — happiness, freedom and peace of mind. A philanthropist was asked how he could give away so much and still have so much left.

"Well," he said, "as I shovel out, God shovels in. He has a bigger shovel than I have."

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A tiger stalks the hallways of American industry, and a lot of corporate officials don't know what to do about it, said the authority on business management.

"How do you hold a tiger by the tail without it turning on you?" he asked rhetorically.

The tiger, said Eugene Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University, is the young, ambitious, eager, tough and confident young manager who is determined to rise swiftly into the corporate hierarchy.

In the 1960s this type of person was sought avidly. He was encouraged. He was given all the rope he needed and was told, in effect, to either haul himself up by it or hang by it. The opportunity was there.

Upward mobility was relatively easy in the expansive 1960s. But now, in the 1970s, the economy isn't growing nearly as fast. The potentially mobile manager thus becomes frustrated by the corporation.

Sitting directly above the young tigers, who range in age between 30 and 35, is an immobile layer of older managers, stymied by the recession, and insecure and worn down by the stresses of today's world.

Jennings observes that the younger managers often are forced to challenge this upper layer because of the pressures of inflation. Their families are growing, their expenses are rising.

Moreover, he adds, "Many of these tigers were raised by parents with a higher standard of living than they, the young generation, can afford." The only way out of their financial pinch, he said, is upward mobility.

They are eager to advance. They are hard-working, willing to learn, ambitious and competitive. They can't easily be intimidated by authority. They scorn incompetence, and know that they have abilities.

They might be considered by some people to be squares, said Jennings, who has made a decades-long study of corporate mobility, has written many books on the subject, and is a personal adviser to corporate chairmen.

Their ambition in the midst of diminished opportunities is creating serious problems for many corporations, Jennings has found. He advises clients to be observant of "conflict dyads," or areas of potential friction between an immobile upper manager and an ambitious young tiger.

"In a smart corporation they watch for these conflicts and offer the young managers training and skills to help resolve them," he said.

Grange Opens Convention In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's agriculture director called for comprehensive economic impact studies on proposed governmental controls on agriculture in an address Sunday at the opening session of the National Grange convention.

"In order for agriculture in the United States to remain number one, we need to encourage our government officials to impose restraint on the many agencies regulating the agriculture segment," Dr. John Stackhouse said to an opening banquet audience of 250 officers and delegates at the 109th National Grange convention.

"The first determination that must be made when an agency proposes a law or regulation is whether there is an actual need for a new control," he said. "Unfortunately, too often it appears as though the economic impact is ignored in favor of the alleged benefits."

"In today's very complex agricultural community, a government employee can make a decision that will have tremendous adverse effects without the employee realizing ..."

Stackhouse said the best way to indicate the importance of agriculture is to discuss economics. He added that while farm production expenses have continued to rise, recent years have been fruitful to farmers.

"When you consider that one out of four jobs in private employment relates to agriculture, you see how important agriculture is to Ohio," he said. "When you realize that American farmers spend more than $100 billion on production and family living expenses, you understand why agriculture is the Number 1 business in our nation."

Activities for the convention include agriculture and national welfare meetings, local state reports, conferring of Grange degrees upon participants, national contests ranging from needlework and photography to art and patchwork pillow design.

The convention, which runs through Nov. 18, is expected to draw a total of 15,000 participants from 38 states.

Today In History

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress, sitting in Philadelphia, resolved to raise two battalions of marines. This date is considered the birthdate of the U.S. Marine Corps.

Hold Fete For Lausche

CLEVELAND (AP) — About 400 persons helped former five-term governor Frank Lausche celebrate his 80th birthday Sunday at Saint Vitus Church, where Lausche once went to school.

Among those extolling Lausche, a Democrat, was Republican Ralph Perk, who is launching on his third term as Cleveland mayor.

Perk called Lausche, who also served as mayor and U.S. senator, "one of the greatest men of our times...the George Washington of the nationality people of the United States."

"He paved the way for people like Czechs and Poles and Bohemians to make their way in politics," Perk said.

The mayor, who is of Czech ancestry, added: "We're all grateful for his tremendous record."

Human Services Eyed At Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Human Services—A Team Approach" will be the topic of the two-day Ohio Welfare Conference which opens Monday.

The conference, to be held at the Holiday Inn in Columbus, will feature information for individuals and agencies working with welfare programs on the coordination of welfare services under the federal funding program Title XX.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am a social worker in a small city. I respect your interest in the psychological problems of your readers. Yet it is impossible for two social workers to offer help to a community that has no psychiatrist or psychologist within a radius of more than 150 miles. Why is so little being done to support our badly needed resources for better mental health?

Mrs. K. L. T., Tex.

Dear Mrs. T.: The need to stress the importance of emotional problems in relation to all illness is imperative. There is no shame in seeking support and guidance for such problems.

There should be no more embarrassment about getting treatment for an emotional illness than for a fractured arm or a heart condition.

It is unfortunate that more extensive mental health programs do not exist in every community in the United States and, in fact, in the rest of the world.

For years I have been closely identified with the formation and growth of an innovative school, The International Graduate University, whose coordinated educational program with The American College of Switzerland is designed to help fill the urgent needs you describe.

The main objective of the teaching program is to train graduate students who are already active in the mental health professions to become psychologists and psychotherapists. This past summer more than a hundred graduate students from the United States and Europe implemented their training at The International Graduate University, with a prestigious faculty assembled from American and European universities and hospitals.

The mental health requirements of small communities can be more efficiently handled if similar graduate schools can train sufficient professionals to ease the massive burden now being carried by physicians, social workers and religious advisors.

The universal need for mental health services is acknowledged by The World Health Organization to be enormous: "Today in the developing countries over 40 million men, women and children are suffering from untreated mental disorders. The most important constraint to meeting the mental health needs is the extreme scarcity of mental health professionals."

Communities such as yours must employ all their persuasive powers to stimulate advanced studies in psychology and to attract these competent professionals in order to reduce the devastating effects of untreated and neglected emotional disorders.

Public opinion must be aroused to outmoded and inadequate mental health facilities if the emotional and physical health of our country is to be sustained. For the accomplishments and the productivity of the individual, the family and the community are entirely dependent on this combined approach to total health.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

On November 11, 1918, World War I officially ended with the signing of the armistice between the Allies and Germany. Many of the high spirited doughboys who set off for France to the strains of "Over There" came home. Many others stayed behind forever beneath the white crosses and poppies of Flanders fields.

The ones who returned were no longer young and exuberant. The horrors of Chateau-Thierry and Belleau wood, the frost bite, the shell shock, the hunger, cold and ever present spectre of death in the trenches had taken a toll on youth and innocence.

Still, it was a glorious time. The Allies were victorious. World peace had been secured and no soldier's son would ever have to go to war again. Yes, it was a glorious, naive time as families gathered to welcome the heroes home.

Immediately after the war, November 11 was set aside in the United States, Great Britain and France as a day of remembrance for those who had given their lives in the war and it was generally called Armistice Day. I can remember the observance in the tiny Illinois town in which I lived. It was replete with a tolling of church bells at 11:00 a.m., after which the whole town joined in a minute of silent prayer. School children learned "In Flanders Fields" and sang patriotic songs in an assembly. The gallant Yanks, who had fought the war to end all wars were reverently commemorated.

Then came the shock of World War II. The bubble burst and Armistice Day was never quite the same again. To be sure it was continued following the armistice of 1945 and it expanded to honor the dead of both world wars. In June of 1954, following the Korean War, November 11 was renamed Veterans Day and proclaimed as an occasion to honor veterans of all wars. Armistice Day was no longer a fitting title. There were too many armistices to be duly noted.

The tragic events of Vietnam seemed to complete the national disenchantment with this once honored day of remembrance. It seemed sensible to someone to move the observance to the fourth Monday in October and so to afford a three day national holiday to be spent traveling, entertaining or relaxing. The original meaning of the day was lost to all but a few. The honor and the glory were somehow dissipated in a sea of disgust and apathy. How very sad!

As is so often the cause with Americans, however, even when our mistakes are gargantuan, we are unafraid to say so and we begin to rectify them. There are indications that this very thing is happening. Even though it might mean the loss of a three day weekend, some states are declaring that they want Veterans Day back and that they wish to reaffirm the purpose for which it was proclaimed. Some other counties and towns have resumed the observance on the eleventh of November on their own without the sanction of the state government.

We're putting up a bit of a fight for Veterans Day and I believe that it is a very healthy sign for our country. The American soldier was, in fact, very durable, courageous and honorable whether he served in the rice paddy, the fox hole or the trench.

Let us honor them all — for one minute of our time at 11 a.m. on Nov. 11 — with gratitude and affection and the fervent prayer that the naive dream for a peaceful world which made the 1918 armistice so glorious can someday become a reality.

Sen. Glenn Sets Keynote Speech

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, will be one of the keynote speakers for the Ohio School Boards Association Capital Conference through Thursday.

Glenn will be joined at the speakers' table by Dr. Loretta Long, who plays one of the characters on the Children's Television Workshop production "Sesame Street."

Some 4,000 persons are expected to attend the session which features the largest exhibit of school equipment and supplies in the Midwest.

Heart Death Rate Higher In Coal Areas

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Akron University Professor Roger Bain says his county-by-county charts plotting heart disease in Ohio shows a generally higher heart death rate in coal mining areas — areas with high sulfate content in their water.

Bain said that although he considers his studies only preliminary, "we got a pattern that any geologist familiar with Ohio would have recognized as significant," following generally the line of the ancient glaciers.

Although the significance has not been determined, Bain noted that water in the former glacial regions is high in bicarbonates as opposed to the sulfates of the coal regions, which were generally untouched by the glaciers.

He said the sulfurs are bound in coal and in the layers of earth adjoining the coal seams.

"These are the layers that hold water, so well drillers stop when they get there," he said. "North and west of the coal region, the water-bearing rocks are in limestone, causing the high bicarbonates."

The limestone formations lie below the coal and draw water from miles away toward the northwest where limestone veins come out from under the coal and approach the surface, he said.

Other Car Causes Crash

An unidentified car pulled from Ohio St. into the path of another auto on the Kingston Pike to cause an accident Sunday, Circleville Police said.

But the driver, Ellen J. Tigner, 18, Route 3, was wearing a seat belt that may have saved her from serious injury.

Police said Ms. Tigner was northbound on the Kingston Pike when the unknown vehicle pulled from Ohio St. into her path.

Unable to stop on the rain-slicked pavement, she slid off the road at an angle and crashed into a tree.

The car she was driving, owned by Sam Webb, 109 Dunmore Rd., was demolished. Ms. Tigner suffered a minor injury in the accident, police said.

Coal was mined in Summit County as early as 1810.

Two Ohioans won fame as movie cowboys—Leonard Slye of Portsmouth who became Roy Rogers, and William Boyd of Cambridge who became Hopalong Cassidy.

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Monday November 10, 1975

Marketing Professor Speaks To AAUW Circleville Branch

AAUW SPEAKER — Dee Rogols, Topic Chairman of AAUW, speaks with Dr. Terence Deutscher, who spoke to the Circleville branch Oct. 28 about marketing in today's society.

The Circleville branch of the American Association of University Women met Thursday, Oct. 30, at the Historical Society.

The branch budget passed which will enable the local club to continue to buy the Sunday issue of the "New York Times" for the Pickaway County Public Library.

For the third year in a row, Circleville's A.A.U.W. branch will support the Reading Is Fundamental program which motivates children to read by providing them with their own paperbacks. Hopefully this rfp program will be expanded this year to include all the county schools. Dr. Terence Deutscher, Assistant Professor on the Marketing Faculty of the Ohio State University College of Administrative Science, was the guest speaker for the night. Dr. Deutscher's topic was "Marketing in Today's Changing Society: The Era of Product Positioning."

Refreshments were served by the Hostess Committee of Faye Sowers and Mary Scothorn, co-chairmen, Shirley Bowser, Jannette Chilcote, Mary Alice Greenwood, Donna Har-mount, Helen Hedges, Connie Warner, and Jeann Weidemaier.

Girl Scouts Set Camp Training

The Basic Troop Camp Course of the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Nov. 13 and 20, according to Rosemary Flowers, troop camp trainer for the Council.

The opening session will be held in the Lutheran Church Parish House, and the second at Emmitt Chapel Church.

Participants will decide on a date for an overnight.

All junior and cadette leaders are required to take the course if they plan to take their troops camping.

The training is open to all leaders, their assistants, and interested Scout mothers in Tri-Plains and Logan Trails Service Units.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Pocketbook diplomacy has never been an effective instrument of American foreign policy. With our poor track record at "buying" friends abroad through massive amounts of foreign aid, one would think — and certainly, hope — that our government had at last seen the futility of it all.

Yet, Congress is again being asked to approve $4.7 billion in foreign military and economic aid for the coming fiscal year. That is more than double the current level of foreign assistance.

Instead of reducing this annual rip-off of the American taxpayers, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is bringing back pocketbook diplomacy bigger and better than ever. In fact, he has now added a new dimension to the spectacle.

In the Middle East, our government is attempting to "buy" both friends and peace. Let's be realistic about this. The United States did not plant the seeds of distrust, hatred, and war in the Middle East, and American dollars are not going to eliminate them.

Yet, Congress now has before it a foreign aid bill which aims to arm both sides in the Arab-Israeli conflict and at the same time, proposes to spend $50 million to send 200 American civilian technicians to the Sinai desert, presumably to make sure those whom we have armed don't use what we gave them.

What assurances do we have after they receive our money and goods that they will honor the peace agreement?

American taxpayers have a right to ask when these foreign give-away programs will end. Since the end of World War II, the United States has contributed about $200 billion in aid to some 140 nations.

It is rare for a nation to turn down American aid. Even the recent statement by the President of Colombia that his country no longer needed American aid was not really as meaningful as it sounded. Colombia will still get development loans from the World Bank, United Nations, Inter-American Development Bank, and the Organization of American States. The United States, of course, is a heavy contributor to these international agencies.

Our open-handed foreign aid policy has brought us little affection overseas. Jealousy and ingratitude have marked the response from many a so-called friend abroad.

The job we did in reconstructing war-torn Europe following World War II has been forgotten or conveniently ignored by many who benefited from our generosity.

America is berated and castigated regularly in the United Nations, where many of the legion of tiny third-rate nations have made a habit of voting against us in the General Assembly.

It is frequently open season on the United States in many parts of the world. India, for example, seldom misses an opportunity to denounce our diplomatic and military actions. She does this, despite the fact that American food shipments have time and again, saved her people from famine.

Several recipients of American aid in Africa and Latin America have not hesitated to nationalize American companies and raise barriers to imports of American goods.

It should come as no surprise to anyone familiar with the pattern of American foreign aid to learn that we contribute a disproportionate share of assistance — whether it be bankrolling the United Nations or propping up the economies of developing nations.

In 1974, for example, we contributed $28 million toward the $85 million-dollar budget of the U.N. relief agency for Palestinian refugees. Oil-rich Saudi Arabia, champion of those very refugees, contributed only $650,000.

Aside from the ineffectiveness of our aid program, our economic problems here at home make such a program all the more difficult to justify.

Congress would do the American people a tremendous favor if it once and for all turned thumbs down on the Fiscal 1976 version of pocketbook diplomacy.

Slate Meeting On Solid Waste

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency will hold a consultation meeting on proposed solid waste regulations Nov. 10.

The purpose of the meeting will be to gather comments on proposed regulations from more than 100 persons outside the agency who may have a particular interest or expertise in solid waste legislation and management, the EPA said.

The two regulations to be discussed deal with the regulation of incinerators and solid waste disposal sites, their operation, approval and closures; and solid waste disposal installation permits.

Name Chairman Of College Board

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Richard A. Johnson of Beavercreek, vice president for technology at Systems Research Laboratories, Inc., was elected chairman of the Central State University Board of Trustees, the university announced.

Johnson succeeds Arnold Pinkney of Cleveland who had been chairman for three years.

Also elected were Dr. Dwight Pemberton of Yellow Springs, vice chairman, and Bernell Roberts of Dayton, secretary.

Tardy for a dental appointment, Alvin rushed up to the automatic elevator just as the outer doors were closing. Quickly he slipped one hand into the gap, expecting the doors to reopen. Instead, they closed upon his hand.

Alvin did manage to yank himself free, but in doing so he injured his fingers. Seeking compensation, he filed a damage suite against the owner of the building.

In a court hearing, the owner insisted that the elevator was in good order even though — for some unknown reason — it may not have worked on this particular occasion.

But the court ruled in Alvin's favor, saying he was entitled to the benefit of the doubt. The court said it was a fair guess that when such an accident occurred, there was indeed something wrong with the mechanism.

Generally speaking, the law imposes a high level of responsibility on the owner of an automatic elevator. He must take into consideration that it will be used by the young and the old, the wise and the simple, the deft and the clumsy.

Still, the owner isn't liable for "normal" mishaps. In another case, as an elderly man was entering an automatic elevator, the closing door bumped his shoulder and knocked him off balance.

But the door had functioned exactly as it was supposed to function. A court said later this was the kind of natural hazard that passengers must deal with on their own.

Nor is the owner responsible for a self-inflicted injury. One temperamental rider, trapped briefly between floors in a department store, vented his frustration by giving the elevator a swift kick in the panelling.

But when he sought damages afterward for his fractured foot, the court tossed out his claim. The court said the injury was caused "not by the stopping of the elevator but by his own kicking."

JFK Death Critic Slates Address

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Mark Lane, a former New York state legislator and long-time critic of the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy, will speak at the University of Toledo on Nov. 19.

His presentation, "Rush to Judgment: Who Killed Kennedy?" will begin with a screening of a two-hour documentary based on Lane's book about the assassination.

Eugene McCarthy Rides Again

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Almost eight years have passed since a snowy New Hampshire winter when a relatively obscure U.S. senator startled political experts with a strong primary election showing again an incumbent president.

His face is more lined now, his hair grayer, and many of his supporters are crowding 30, but former Sen. Eugene McCarthy is ready to try again in an almost quixotic bid for the presidency as an independent.

McCarthy was here recently to begin organizing for a petition drive aimed at collecting 10,000 signatures to qualify as an independent candidate on the 1976 Ohio presidential ballot. He needs a minimum 5,000 signatures by March 25.

Although America in 1975 is a long way from 1968 Chicago, the scars of his rejection at the turbulent Democratic national convention that year are still very much in evidence.

"They used every tactic to defeat us," he says of the party regulars who nominated Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., "I don't think any candidate was abused...as much as we were."

As for the possibility that his candidacy could hurt the nominee of his former party next year, particularly a liberal like Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., he says without hesitation: "I'm quite willing to let it happen."

"I don't mind if they vote for Udall. I tell Democrats 'have a good time,'...then remember what we said."

To McCarthy, a two-term Democratic senator from Minnesota, the problem is not the individual candidates but the policies of the major parties.

"I think the Democrats probably will be running on the 1948 platform," he says, recalling President Truman's campaign against Thomas Dewey.

Neither party adequately addresses current issues, he contends, and both "have contributed to the debasement of the presidency."

The role of the "office of the president" will be a major theme of his campaign.

McCarthy gave up a job teaching political science last spring at the New School for Social Research in New York City to devote full time to lecture tours and to plan his campaign he insists is serious.

A brief effort at an independent candidacy in 1972 flopped.

Who are the McCarthy supporters of 1975?

"Most of the core are left over from '68," he admits. He will again depend on college students for grass roots support, McCarthy organizations have already sprouted on several major Ohio campuses.

A running mate will be named around the first of the year and the petition drive launched in the hope of qualifying in Ohio and 49 other states.

"As we see it now, it's a full commitment through the election of next year," McCarthy says. He hopes to raise $500,000 in Ohio and capture 1-3 of the vote.

The poet-author, anti-politician, now 59—"My father died at 98"—apparently has no intention of changing his unorthodox political style, which so angered some members of his former party.

He plans to name a prospective cabinet prior to the election and "ask the other candidates to do the same."

Whether substantial support develops in Ohio remains to be seen. But McCarthy thinks the state is ripe for an independent because of the failure in recent years of either party to establish dominance.

There has been little reaction thus far, an aide admits.

"The Democrats say, 'if its (George) Wallace, we'll call you' and the Republicans say, 'if it's (Ronald) Reagan we'll call you,'" the aide said.

Ohio Senate Report

By OAKLEY C. COLLINS
17th District Senator

In a society increasingly oriented toward "youth," we sometimes neglect the one group of people most deserving of attention due to their collective experience and because they have in every sense "paid their dues" through years of productive employment and social concern. That group is the elderly, senior citizens often left out of the mainstream of life not because they can make no productive contribution, but merely because they are advanced in years.

However, increased sensitivity to the conditions of the elderly is manifested in a broad range of bills now in various stages of the legislative process in the 111th General Assembly. Perhaps the most far-reaching example is Amended HB 286, now in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which would prohibit discrimination based on age.

Ohio law presently bars discrimination (based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or ancestry) in employment, public accommodations, labor organization practices, and housing. Am. HB 286

Management Men Finish Training

Three employees of USS Chemicals, Circleville, completed UNIT II of Wittenberg University's Management Development Program Friday.

They are Garry L. Brown, Route 5, Elm Grove, supervisor; Charles E. Gleason, 461 Edwards Road, press foreman, and Darwin R. Gumm, 325 Avon Drive, shift foreman.

The series of five-day on-campus courses are designed to strengthen the management competency and provide new insights into the management functions of supervisory personnel in industry.

The courses concentrate in four areas — behavioral studies and motivation, communications and leadership, management functions and methods, and economics and personnel relations.

During the past 24 years more than 900 different companies representing a wide variety of industrial, commercial and medical concerns have released over 16,000 supervisors from their normal responsibilities and sponsored their participation in the management program.

Bluffton Rep To Visit CHS

Curt Campbell, a member of the Bluffton College admissions staff, will be at Circleville High School at 10:30 a.m. on Nov. 21.

The counselor will discuss the academic and extra-curricular life of the Bluffton College campus with the high school students. Additional information will be given on admission requirements and registration, fees and available scholarships or grants.

Bluffton, affiliated with the General Conference Mennonite Church, is a liberal arts college which enrolls approximately 670 students.

More Insurance Must Be Offered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An amended Ohio law, effective Nov. 26, requires insurance companies to offer more uninsured motorists coverage to auto insurance policyholders, the Ohio Insurance Institute said.

The increased coverage, which will mean an increase in premiums, can be rejected or reduced by policyholders, providing they indicate their desire in writing when their policies are issued or renewed.

Uninsured motorists protection pays for bodily injury losses caused by an at-fault driver who has no auto liability insurance or by a hit-and-run motorist.

would add age as a prohibited category, with "age" meaning 18 years of age or older. In effect it is aimed at unfair practices against senior citizens not because they cannot do a job or fulfill a contractual obligation, but merely because they are advanced in years.

In terms of employment the bill affects interview policies; hiring, firing, promotion, and tenure; and required listing of age. It would prevent employers or labor organizations from classifying their members by age or controlling apprenticeship programs solely because of age. All transactions, listings, and solicitation of information for housing and housing loans would also be covered.

The Ohio Civil Rights Commission would determine the validity of discrimination complaints. In certain employment cases, the complainant may have recourse to a civil action for damages.

A number of proposed bills would provide financial assistance to supplement fixed incomes eroded by inflation. Counties and municipalities are permitted by law to levy motor vehicle license taxes to provide revenue for planning, constructing, improving, maintaining and repairing public roads and bridges.

House Bill 598 would exempt persons 65 years of age or older from the tax, which is currently in effect in 38 counties on a county-wide basis and in 62 taxing districts in 22 additional counties at an annual cost of $22.8 million.

Numerous bills would in some way liberalize the homestead exemption (a tax-break for low-income taxpayers who own and live in their own home) by extending coverage to certain classes of people, or increasing income schedules or property evaluation level covered. Senior citizens on a fixed income are a prime target of most proposed alterations in this law. Amended Sub. SB 24, effective last week, increases the tax break for low-income brackets ($2,000-$3,000, $4,000-$5,000, $6,000-$7,000), excludes veterans payments from base income schedules, and enables people who do not file their initial application on time to receive the exemption for that year if the next year's application is filed on time.

Sub. SB 199, waiting for floor assignment by the Senate Rules Committee, would establish a similar tax break for renters 65 years of age or older or renters permanently and totally disabled. The income tax credit would equal the amount by which 15 per cent of net rental expenditures (gross rent payments minus payments for utilities, services or personal property) exceeds three per cent of the renter's gross income in that taxable year. The claimant could receive a refund from the state if the amount of allowable credit exceeded the amount of taxes due.

House Bill 439, presently before the House Economic Affairs and Federal Relations Committee, would authorize municipal corporations to organize and operate housing programs for elderly persons of low and moderate income. This bill would eliminate conflicts between municipal programs and Metropolitan Housing Authorities created by the state Board of Housing.

Recreational opportunities for senior citizens would be enhanced by two bills (Sub. HB 165 and SB 117) which would provide free hunting and trapping licenses to persons 65 years of age or older. HB 726 would also increase recreational opportunities for senior citizens by allowing public schools to rent facilities for entertainment purposes exclusively to groups composed of persons 60 years of age or older. Current law requires that all public school facilities used for non-school purposes must be open to the general public.

Executives Expect Need For Manpower

CLEVELAND (AP) — Employment could rise nearly 2 per cent in 1976, U.S. manufacturing executives have told Industry Week.

The magazine's fourth annual survey also found that the businessmen foresaw sales gains of 9 per cent and inflation increases of 8.5 per cent.

The editors said 45 per cent of those surveyed believed the need for manpower would increase next year. Another 37 per cent expected no change and 17 per cent foresaw a decrease. One per cent had no opinion.

The average increase expected was 1.9 per cent, the magazine said. The only higher increase expected was just before the boom year of 1973.

In all, 89 per cent of the respondents said they expected business to improve. Six per cent expected a decrease, 4 per cent expected no change and 1 per cent didn't know.

Fifty-six per cent said their business already was better than a year ago.

Increased inflation was foreseen by 36 per cent of the executives, 10 per cent believed it would be about as bad next year as this year and a little more than half thought it might slow down.

The differences between those expecting more, less or the same amount of investment were nearly insignificant statistically, and Industry Week declined to offer a forecast.

Some 38 per cent of the executives said they planned to cut into stocks of finished goods next year; 38 per cent planned to keep inventories at this year's level, 28 per cent planned to increase stocks and 4 per cent didn't know.

Fully 90 per cent of the executives believed material costs would continue to rise next year.

Exports were expected to grow more slowly than in the survey's previous years, the executives indicated. But the survey results also showed that more of the firms asked were involved in exports.

The survey was made by Cleveland's Business Research Services, Inc. The size of the sample was not revealed. The magazine said questionnaires were mailed to chief executives of the nation's largest manufacturing companies.

Agency Directed To Set Up Ohio Test Facility

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate committee Friday directed the U.S. Department of Transportation to establish a federal facility to test defects in vehicles at the Ohio Transportation Research Center at East Liberty, announced Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio.

Brown said the committee refused a Senate amendment to provide additional funds for the project but agreed to order DOT to fund the facility from money already appropriated.

Brown said since $731,000 was available, it meant DOT would have to find $590,000 among appropriated funds to provide the slightly more than $1.3 million needed this year.

"DOT officials have assured me the money will be found to fund the project which Transportation Secretary William Coleman said last week he would like to see located at the TRC," Brown said. He said he expected a lease agreement to be signed soon.

Washington Grange Installation Slated

Washington Grange will meet 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Washington Twp. School.

Federal Grant Aids Children

CHICAGO (AP) — The children of itinerant farm workers, fishermen and food process workers in Ohio will be beneficiaries of a $1.5 million federal grant announced by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The HEW said the grant, to be administered by the state Department of Education, was designed to try to make up for the frequently interrupted schooling migrant children receive as they and their parents follow the crops.

Kelleys Island Plans Drawn Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A scaled-down plan for development of Kelleys Island will be ready within six to eight weeks, Natural Resource Director Robert Teater said Friday.

Teater said it would be a greatly modified version of the controversial $40 million project proposed for both Kelleys and South Bass islands by the Gov. John J. Gilligan administration.

That plan met with objections from both residents and local officials because it called for the state buying about three-fourths of Kelleys Island.

Teater said the new plan was being worked out with local officials and it includes no massive land purchases. The state would buy a small amount of land on the north shore of the island for a campgrounds and cabins.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Can't Track Down Deserted Spouses

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that wives who have been deserted by their husbands and who have had to go on welfare to support their families should write to the Parent Locator Service, in care of the Health, Education and Welfare Office in Washington, D.C.

You said that department would locate the absent parents through Social Security records, and they would inform the wife of her husband's whereabouts. (In the past, such information was considered confidential, and the department refused to give it out.)

Well, I followed your advice, and HEW wrote back saying they were sorry that they couldn't help me. How come?

Thanks for nothing.

DESERTED IN TEXAS

DEAR DESERTED: Last August, a spokesman for the HEW wrote to advise me that the whereabouts of an absent spouse would no longer be confidential if he deserted his family and failed to meet his financial obligations. I was advised to inform my readers to write to the HEW in Washington, D.C., for assistance in locating absent spouses.

After that item appeared in my column, the HEW in Washington, D.C., was inundated with requests for help. All were refused.

When I demanded an explanation, they apologetically told me that such a bill had been passed, but that Congress had failed to appropriate the funds to provide that service and then asked that I please inform deserted wives to apply to their state welfare department for assistance in locating an absent spouse.

DEAR ABBY: I've never seen this problem in your column, and I really would like to know if there is a solution:

When a person drives her (or his) own car and agrees to pick up others, why should the driver have to pay for the parking?

I think it's enough that the driver uses her(his) car and pays for the gas without having to pay for the parking.

Of all the times I've been the "Chauffeur," not once has one of the "sleppalongs" offered to pay for even part of the parking.

Please print this, Abby. Most people aren't really cheap; they're just thoughtless.

"THE DRIVER"

DEAR DRIVER: Here's your letter. Are you listening "Sleppalongs"?

DEAR ABBY: I can't forget the letter from OLD FOOL, the 64-year-old woman who considers herself "respectable" but who is having an affair with a married man whose wife is now her "best friend."

You should have reminded her of the Chinese proverb, "One foot cannot stand on two boats."

As discreet or cunning as her married lover may be, he is bound to fall in the drink sooner or later, and he's the one who has something to lose — not she.

He is making a mockery of marriage, and she is making a mockery of friendship, pretending to be best friends with her lover's wife. Meanwhile, OLD FOOL is secure in her retirement with family and friends, and her travels around to kill time.

I hope this married man's wife is still around to care for him if he develops a lingering illness. OLD FOOL will probably be cruising in the Mediterranean. Alone.

STRONG STOMACH

DEAR STRONG: Could be. But another reader takes an opposing view. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: To the woman who called herself OLD FOOL: There are countless numbers of people doing the same thing. You had the courage to write. Bless you!

19 Persons Die On Ohio Highways

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As Indian summer weather lured motorists to the highways, at least 19 persons died in weekend traffic accidents across the state, the Highway Patrol reported today.

It was the worst weekend on Ohio highways since the third weekend of August when 19 also died.

The dead included five pedestrians and three double-death accidents helped boost this weekend's toll.

The patrol's count extends from 6 a.m. Friday through midnight Saturday.

Appeals Court Turns Down Press Bid

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The state 2nd District Court of Appeals Friday denied a media request to open pretrial hearings in the Lester C. Emoff murder-kidnap case to the public.

The appellate court decided it would not halt the trial court from closing the hearings to the public by ruling that the right of the public to an open hearing is not absolute.

"Indeed, almost all constitutional rights are tempered by other constitutional guarantees," the judges said. "In this case other rights are involved, the right of the public to an orderly, speedy, and complete disposition of the criminal case, are the paramount right of the defendant to a fair trial."

In effect, the appellate court upheld Montgomery County Common Pleas Judge Stanley S. Phillips' decision to close the hearings to the public because of prejudicial publicity in the case.

Dayton Newspapers, Inc., which asked the appellate court to restrain Phillips from closing the hearings, said it would appeal the decision.

The trial court held off the hearings, scheduled to begin last Wednesday, until the appellate court ruled on the writ. Phillips said Friday a hearing on a defense motion to suppress a statement given by one of the defendants will be held Monday.

Three Dayton men, Herman Lee Moore, 46, Albert Lee Scott Jr., 41, and Willis Leroy, 44, are charged with aggravated murder, kidnapping and extortion in the September shooting death of Emoff.

Specialty Steel Jobs Being Hurt

CLEVELAND (AP) — As much as 44 per cent of the world's specialty steel production is under direct government ownership and subsidized imports are taking a severe toll of American jobs, the International Trade Commission has been told.

Industry Week magazine said in today's edition that testimony was offered by some of 19 U.S. specialty steel makers and steelworkers' representatives seeking government protection.

An ITC decision whether to recommend such protection under a clause of the 1974 Trade Act is expected in January. The commission recommends action to the president. An adverse decision could be appealed to Congress.

The 44 per cent figure was offered by William H. Knoell, president of Cyclops Corp., Pittsburgh, in testimony at a recent ITC hearing. Knoell said his firm's specialty steel division was forced to lay off 1,200 employees this year and shelve expansion plans. Profits were down 58 per cent from a year ago, he said. Unemployment in specialty steel is running as high as 40 per cent, I.W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers of America, told the commission.

Representatives of foreign steel makers responded that U.S. producers suffered from lack of production capacity every year, and that recession, not foreign competition, was behind lower profits.

The U.S. producers complained that imports had taken 22 per cent of the stainless, 30 per cent of the tool, 60 per cent of the stainless wire and 70 per cent of the stainless rod markets in the United States.

The magazine said carbon steel order rates continued to indicate fourth-quarter mill shipments would reach about 18.5 million net tons and that 1975 shipments about 80 million tons.

Raw steel output last month slipped to 9.25 million net tons from 9.29 million tons in September, the magazine estimated.

Output in the first 10 months of 1975 totaled 99.3 million tons, down 19 per cent from 122.9 million tons during the same period a year ago.

Woman Marine Officer Quits; Hassle Over Conduct Seen

YUMA, Ariz. (AP)—Marine 2nd Lt. Mary Niflis is being discharged rather than face a court-martial for allegedly having sexual relations with six enlisted men. But the 23-year-old woman's mother says she still wants to see a congressional investigation of the Marine Corps' treatment of her daughter.

Lt. Niflis' mother, Jean Rickard of Southbury, Conn., called for the congressional investigation after it was announced Friday that the secretary of the Navy had accepted her daughter's resignation and that she would be given an honorable discharge.

Lt. Niflis, who is divorced from a marine she met in basic training in 1973, faced court-martial when she was accused last July of "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman" by allegedly having sex with the six enlisted men at the Marine Corps Air Station here. None of the men were charged. The specifications also accused her of "fraternization with enlisted personnel on terms of military equality" and charged her with sodomy.

"You can't stop a congressional investigation. It has to go through to completion," Mrs. Rickard said. The 65-year-old Mrs. Rickard had written to three U.S. senators and Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., protesting the treatment of her daughter since the charges were filed, especially what Mrs. Rickard said was the social isolation imposed on her daughter.

Lt. Niflis' attorney, Jay Jeffcoat, said he learned Friday from a Marine Corps' legal officer that her discharge would be honorable under terms of her resignation approved by the secretary of the Navy.

"None of the details were available" on when she would be discharged, but the officer's resignation letter precluded anything but an honorable discharge," Jeffcoat said.

A Pentagon spokesman said the Privacy Act prevented him from "disclosing the type of discharge."

"When the secretary accepted the resignation, he took it out of our hands. There's nothing really for us to comment on anymore," said a Marine Corps spokesman here.

Jeffcoat has called the case "the most classic example of a denial of equal justice" because none of the men was charged.

He noted that three of the men named were married and that in the armed forces adultery is a punishable offense.

Cowboy And Pony Make Trip East

SHELDON, Ill. (AP) — After his fourth heart attack, cowboy Charles Good rode off his Nevada spread on his Indian pony and into the sunrise to see as much of the East as he could.

On a stop in Sheldon on his saddle trip to Pennsylvania the leathery, 59-year-old maverick said he never had been as far East as Cheyenne, Wyo. and just wanted to take in a hunk of the rest of the country and, maybe, see his two sisters somewhere along the way.

Last March he said he packed his bedroll, an extra shirt and a razor and mounted Buck, a 25-year-old pony he raised from a bottle.

He said adios to his coyote, Bob; his brother, Harry L.; 38,000 head of white-faced herefords, and a 190,000-acre ranch near Reno, Nev.

"I had this feelin' that the sun was beginning to set on me. So I figured me and Buck better hightail it."

Good, a bachelor, camps out most of the time.

"We hole up at nights under some trees away from the road and I let Buck graze," he said. "He always stays by me, though. I grub at roadside stands. Costs about $4 a day including Buck's hay and some oats."

"I'm making' it the only way I know how—on horseback. And we are doing it by skirtin' the cities. Buck does a fast walk along the ground next to the concrete and we've been makin' about 40 miles a day."

Good said his journey almost ended in Kansas City when he was stricken by his fifth heart attack.

"I had this feelin' comin' on and I knew it wasn't good," he said.

"Old Buck rode me straight into town. He took me right up to the medical center and through the emergency room door."

"I was chompin' at the bit for several weeks waitin' to get out. The doc warned me about the trip, but he told me it was my life. And you know what, it sure enough is. Been feelin' pretty good ever since, except for a cold."

Good said, "When our journey is over, me and Buck will take the train home."

It was in 1910 that the armored car first traveled American roads. At this time it was a regular bank on wheels, complete with banking room, a cashier's window and safe, electric lights and an electric alarm.

Nun Raps Parents

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Parents who are too busy for their children usually are responsible for the youngsters who need the help of Sister Grace Marie Maloney, a veteran psychologist who's now putting her years of experience to work as a volunteer.

She admits to being in her late 70s, but won't be any more specific about her age. "If I tell the Youth Services Bureau I'm too old, they may not want me to come down," Sister Grace reasons.

However, she doesn't mince words on the subject of permissive parents.

"In my estimation, I think they (the parents) should instill values into children—pride in themselves and desire to make a mark in the world and prepare for a remunerative career and find a companion for life," she said. "Where's a boy going to meet a decent girlfriend if he's hanging around alleys?"

Sister Grace says parents who "were busy with social things or simply out taking care of themselves" are behind many of the problem children she sees in her volunteer job at the center which counsels delinquent youths and their families.

She tests children and advises on the kinds of schools and programs the young clients need.

Portuguese Rally Hit By Tear Gas

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Tear gas disrupted a progovernment rally as Premier Jose de Azevedo was condemning left-wing extremism.

Nearly an hour after the premier began speaking Sunday night to about 20,000 persons gathered in Lisbon's main square, someone set fire to the political banners raised by the anti-Communist sponsors of the meeting, and tear gas grenades were thrown from the roof of the adjacent navy ministry building.

Some persons in the crowd apparently believed that the military police had thrown the tear gas because they were wearing gas masks before the attack. They rushed the police, using banner poles as lances, and the MP's fired more than 100 submachine-gun rounds into the air.

Azevedo said later that the police gunfire was "a bad idea. They caused panic. It was fascist sabotage."

There was no report of anyone being hit by the gunfire, but four were hospitalized for gas inhalation, the government television station reported.

The rally had been organized by the Socialists and the Popular Democrats to demonstrate support for the government's campaign to assert its authority over the armed forces and the political extremists.

Azevedo told the crowd political violence was threatening Portugal with "a suicidal return to primitivism." He also attacked wage demands that he said were impossible, wildcat strikes, unauthorized seizures of farmland and lack of discipline in leftist-dominated army units.

Car Stolen From City

A 1965 model Oldsmobile, valued at $150, was stolen from the Second National Bank parking lot late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, Circleville Police said.

The car, which was locked at the time of the theft, is owned by Alfred S. Heeter, Jr., 524 Mowrer Rd. The green, four-door model was bearing Ohio license X12115 at the time.

Heeter told police he left his vehicle at the bank lot at 11:30 p.m. Saturday and found it missing an hour later after picking up a pizza.

Vandals caused an estimated $175 damage Saturday or Sunday when they broke a door glass at the Goodwill Industries store, 201 S. Pickaway St.

The glass was in the north side door. Vandals used a rock to break the left rear window of a car owned by William Crider, 507 Stella Ave., Sunday about 3 p.m.

The car was parked in front of his house.

Vandals apparently entered a garage owned by Maxine Hughes, 603 N. Court St., last week to scratch the side of a car parked there with an unknown object.

They also knocked out six windows in the garage and three panes of glass from the garage door.

Ethan Allen Brown, Ohio's seventh governor, 1818-1823, was born July 4, 1776 at Greenwich, Conn.

SWIMMING POOLS FOR 30 Lucky Home Owners

Through the combined efforts of Builders and Supply Co. and one of the nations largest swimming pool manufacturers, this once in a pool time offer, is possible as part of a national advertising program, in introducing the first salt water swimming pools in the Circleville and surrounding areas.

It is medically proven that salt water is the healthiest water you can possibly swim in, improves sinus conditions, helps relieve arthritic and rheumatic conditions. It also eliminates expensive chemical consumption normally used on conventional swimming pools. It's like having the ocean in your back yard the year around.

If you have thought about having your own private swimming pool in your back yard, this is an excellent opportunity for it to become a reality. Not only will the price be sharply discounted, but special terms will be arranged to fit your budget.

If you have a back yard that may qualify for one of these installations and would like more information, please contact Builders and Supply Co. at toll free 800-282-1650. Leave your name, address, and phone number and you will be contacted with full information.

Woman Road Deputy Quits; Just Not The Life For Her

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Janice King is back in her kitchen today, but she still gets credit for pioneering a field for women.

She's decided she just wasn't "the right one" to be Franklin County's first female road deputy, so she turned her badge in Sunday.

She's prepared for the possibility that women's lib advocates "will hate me now", but admitted: "I just found that I didn't like it all that well."

She said the decision to quit after less than six weeks on the road was a "mutual agreement" between herself and her husband of two months, Joseph.

"He's worried about my safety," she said, "and I can see his point ... We didn't think it would be that hard on either one of us when I started out, but it just didn't work out."

Mrs. King said she had not encountered any really difficult problems on the road.

"A simple thing like stopping for coffee or going to the restroom was a problem," she explained. "The male deputies can just stop at a firehouse or gas station. I never felt comfortable because I would be the only woman there."

Sheriff Harry Berkemer said he probably will hire another woman road deputy, but does not know when.

"We tried it, we learned some lessons, and we'll probably try it again," the sheriff said.

Meanwhile Mrs. King plans to return to housekeeping and do some traveling with her husband, a race car driver.

She said she is glad of the experience and adds that there were good points about being a road deputy.

"You just have to get the good points to balance out the bad," she said. "I guess I'm just not the right one for the job."

Campus Notes

John Dowler, a sophomore at the University of Houston, School of Music, played with the Cougar Band at the opening of the new sports arena in Houston, The Summit. Dowler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Dowler, 315 Lewis Road.

The opening of the arena was billed as one of the largest events of its kind and featured three top performing stars. At this performance, Dowler sang with the famed Andy Williams.

At the university, Dowler is maintaining a 4.0 average along with his musical participation.

Bengals Sneak By Broncos; Win 17-16

DENVER (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown pulled one out of the back pages of the playbook Sunday to pave the way for a 17-16 National Football League victory over the Denver Broncos.

Bronco Coach John Ralston had warned his defense all week about Cincinnati's propensity for exhausting the playbook.

"They use everything," Ralston had said. "And you get the impression that they never run the same thing twice."

But Sunday's play may have surprised even Ralston.

Lions Beat Struggling Browns, 21-10

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The Law of Averages said it was Cleveland's turn to win, but the Detroit Lions apparently were in a mood to break the law — by breaking some big plays.

Anyone who missed the first 68 seconds of Sunday's game between the National Football League clubs missed the turning point. And while the Browns are still waiting for their season's turning point, the Lions apparently hit theirs two weeks ago when their stringer Joe Reed inherited the quarterbacking job from injured Bill Munson and Greg Landry.

Behind the passing of Reed, the catching of Ray Jarvis and a superb overall defense, the Lions took a 21-10 victory over the struggling Browns before a Pontiac Stadium crowd of 75,000.

It was the eighth consecutive loss for the Browns without so much as a tie. Cleveland has never beaten Detroit on the Lions' home field in a regular season game.

Detroit has won two straight since Reed took over and has raised its record to 5-3.

"No way in the world would I have thought we'd have this type of football season," said Forrest Gregg, Cleveland's first-year coach. "I knew we had people to replace, but no way did I expect anything like this."

With Cincinnati trailing 13-10 midway through the third quarter, Brown called for a combination pass-lateral. Ken Anderson tossed a eight-yard pass to wide receiver Chip Myers, who, as he was about to be tackled, lateraled to another Bengal wide receiver, Isaac Curtis. Catching the Bronco defense off-balance, Curtis raced 25 yards along the sideline to the Denver five-yard line.

Two plays later, Boobie Clark crashed over from the one for the touchdown that proved the clincher. "It's just another one of our plays," said the 66-year-old Brown, who didn't invent professional football but merely refined it. "We've used the play before."

The triumph, aided by the accurate passing of Anderson and a stout defense that kept Denver pinned deep in its own territory for much of the second half, boosted the Bengals' record to 7-1 and kept them in a first-place tie with Pittsburgh in the American Conference's Central Division.

Denver, suffering its fifth loss in the last six outings, is 3-5 and trails AFC Western Division leader Oakland by three games.

"It's going to be awfully tough to catch up now," said Ralston.

Kansas Trips Oklahoma, 23-3

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

The king is dead, long live the king ... if anyone knows who it is.

Second-ranked Oklahoma, the defending national college football champion, relinquished its claim to reelection when streaks of 28 consecutive victories and 37 games without a loss came to an end Saturday, a stunning 23-3 upset victim at the hands of unsung Kansas.

That left Ohio State, Nebraska and Texas A&M with solid unbeaten-and-untied credentials to succeed the Sooners — unless, of course, someone knocks them off, a distinct possibility in this fairy-tale season which taxed the imagination via a wild and woolly weekend that left no less than six members of the Top Twenty licking their wounds.

Top-ranked Ohio State swamped Illinois 40-3, third-ranked Nebraska blanked Kansas State 12-0 and No. 4 Texas A&M rolled over Southern Methodist 36-3.

But North Carolina State shocked eighth-ranked Penn State 15-14 on Jay Sherrill's fourth-period 24-yard field goal, Stanford shaded No. 9 Southern California 13-10 on Mike Langford's 37-yard boot with five seconds left, Georgia upended No. 11 Florida 10-7 on a tricky 80-yard bomb from tight end Richard Appleby to Gene Washington with 3:12 to play, No. 15 Arizona outlasted 13th-ranked and previously unbeaten San Diego 31-24 behind Bruce Hill's three touchdown passes and West Virginia downed No. 20 Pitt when Bill McKenzie drilled a 38-yard field goal on the final play.

Elsewhere, fifth-ranked Alabama turned back stubborn Louisiana State 23-10 with the help of Bucky Berrey's three second-half field goals; No. 6 Michigan blanked Purdue 28-0 as Gordon Bell tallied twice and Jim Smith caught five passes for 184 yards, including a record 83-yard touchdown bomb; Earl Campbell and Marty Akins combined for 235 rushing yards as No. 7 Texas trimmed Baylor 38-21 and 10th-ranked Arizona State built a 21-7 lead over Wyoming on Freddie Williams' 174 yards and two touchdowns and then had to stymie a two-point conversion run in the final period to nip the Cowboys 21-20.

In games involving the Second Ten,

No. 12 Notre Dame limited Georgia Tech's highpowered Wishbone to 143 yards and whipped the Yellow Jackets 24-3 as freshman Jerome Heavens rumbled for 148 yards and two scores; Terry Kunz ran for 17 of his 119 yards on a third-period touchdown trek as No. 14 Colorado beat Oklahoma State 17-7.

Jamie Franklin won his starting job back with touchdown runs of 29 and 44 yards — he also caught an eight-yard pass for the winning score with 1:38 left — as No. 16 Maryland nipped Cincinnati 21-19. Miami of Ohio, the No. 17 team, clinched its third straight MidAmerican Conference title by routing Western Michigan 44-21 as Sherman Smith, a running quarterback, gained 176 yards and scored four times.

California, No. 18, maintained its half-game Pacific-8 Conference lead over UCLA and Stanford by edging Washington 27-24 as Joe Roth passed for 380 yards and four touchdowns. However, since all three have one loss, UCLA is in the driver's seat for the Rose Bowl berth since the Bruins have beaten Cal and Stanford. In the event of a tie, the head-to-head victor wins out.

Finally, No. 19 Missouri whipped Iowa State 44-14 led by Steve Pisarkiewicz' two touchdown passes and Tony Galbreath's two scoring runs.

Ohio State actually trailed Illinois 3-0 after one period but it was smooth sailing thereafter as Archie Griffin rushed for 127 yards to pass the 5,000-yard mark and Pete Johnson scored his 20th and 21st touchdowns, a Big Ten record.

Nebraska got an early eightyyard touchdown pass from Vince Ferragamo to Tony Davis and let its defense keep Kansas State subdued the rest of the way.

But Oklahoma, which had flirted with disaster several times this season, finally got its comeuppance thanks to four lost fumbles, four interceptions, a blocked punt that set up Kansas' first touchdown and a blocked field goal.

It was the Sooners' first loss since the fifth game of the 1972 season, the first time in 99 games since 1966 they were held to less than seven points and the first setback for Barry Switzer in his three years as head coach.

"It ain't much fun," Switzer admitted. "I'd like to congratulate Bud Moore and his team on a great victory. It was a case of a good team beating another good team on its mistakes. I knew we'd lose sooner or later and I knew we'd have to help whoever beat us. We sure won the mistake race."

again. A 193-555 is what she bowled in the Thursday Crackpot League.

Kay Farynowski and Penny Dietrich shared the crown in the Queen Pins League as they bowled a 215 and 504 respectively.

In the Elks League, Ralph Ankrom rolled a single game of 222 and Bob Dahl a series of 612. In the Civic League, Gary Barthlemas bowled a single game of 244 and Chet Iery a three-game series of 609.

With their eyes just opening, Sunrisers Barb Bush and Carolyn Davis rolled awakening scores of 180 and 474 respectively.

DuPont Mixed League, high single honors went to Clara Burton, 172 and Charles Ried, 232 and series honors to Margaret Knox, 473 and Bob Dahl, 578.

Friday mixed League honors went to Barb Parish 199-511; Don Nichols, 214 and Fred Belles 214-575.

Senior Citizens, Betty Dietrich 164-429; Tuffy Good, 181-509.

Juniors — Bantam, Eric Longberry, 182-470; junior, Tim Dietrich, 214-572; senior, Tom Meena, 199-488.

There were a lot of high scores this week, but still no 700 series. Keep up the good work.

Edmonton Oilers Top Crusaders; Win 4-1

EDMONTON (AP) — Rusty Patenaude and Mike Rogers fired home two goals each to lift the Edmonton Oilers past the Cleveland Crusaders 4-1 in a World Hockey Association game Sunday night.

Gerry Pinder gave Cleveland a 1-0 lead at 13:47 of the first period, scoring a power play goal.

Patenaude tied the score at 8:34 of the second period, then Rogers put the Oilers ahead to stay at 12:14. Patenaude got his second goal of the game and 11th of the season at 14:45. Both of Patenaude's goals came on power plays.

Cincinnati Stingers Defeat Whalers, 4-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Winning can be contagious. The Cincinnati Reds started it with their World Series conquest. Then the Bengals got caught up in the spirit of things, rolling to a 7-1 National Football League start.

Now it's the Cincinnati Stingers, a first-year entry in the World Hockey Association.

The youth-laden Stingers extended their WHA East Division lead to three points Sunday night with a 4-2 victory over New England that boosted Cincinnati's record to 8-4.

Women — first, Barb Parish, 106 pins over average; second, Carol Reichelderfer, 104 pins; third, Sharon Hill, 93 pins; fourth, Naoma Cochenour, 92 pins; fifth, Belle Sowers, 92 pins.

James Ballou rolled a fiery 254-630 in the Early Sunday Mixed League Nov. 2. Top lady kegler was Martha Sharrett rolling a 231-574. Wow, what a night. Jerry Owens was right behind Ballou with a 234-630.

In the Late League, Ralph Tigner rolled the men's single high with a 242 and Bob Bartholomew a three-game series of 618. Sherrie Newhouse rolled a 203-530 and Madeline Sanders 208-522 to share ladies honors.

Cathy McDivitt took honors in the Monday Morning Ladies League rolling a 185-464.

Fred Belles and Dan Hettinger shared single-game honors in the Early Monday League rolling hot 244's. Belles grabbed the series honors alone with a 626. Late Leaguers saw Butch Ford hit a fiery single of 246 and Daryl Reichelderfer a right-on-the-mark 631 series.

Those midnight ladies were at it again. Bobbie Clemmens scattered the pins for a nice 224-577.

Ralph Tigner, didn't I type that name earlier, bowled a nice 217-576. But he shared the single-game high with Walt Myers in the Ashville K of P League.

Single games of 202 were rolled by Faye Weethee and Ruth Strawser in the Tuesday Night Ladies League. Ruth took high series with a 563 followed by Faye with a 555.

In the Morning Glories League, Sally Jones scattered the pins for a 192-520. Marlene Widmar scored a single-game of 183 and Janet Lutz a 488 series in the Circle D Ladies.

Art Founds, a GE Night Owl, hooted his way to a 222 single and John Musselman a 582 series.

Three times in one week, Ralph Tigner bowled a well-deserved 233-623 in the WNRE League.

Kathy Leist took league honors in the Ladies Wednesday Night League rolling a 221-583.

Elaine Greenlee and Janice Miller rolled scores of 193 and 500 respectively in the Morning League. Wednesday Matinee saw Clara Burton and JoAnne Ness roll scores of 183 and 506 respectively.

Vikings Pound Atlanta, 38-0

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

"Football should be fun," explained Minnesota safety Paul Krause, who had an enjoyable time in a drenching rain, intercepting two passes as the unbeaten Vikings ran their National Football League winning streak to eight games Sunday with a 38-0 drubbing of Atlanta.

But the things that happened to Buffalo, Los Angeles and Philadelphia were anything but funny.

Three touchdowns by O.J. Simpson staked Buffalo to a 21-0 lead against Baltimore, but the Colts came back for a 42-35 victory over the Bills.

Philadelphia led all the way against St. Louis, only to lose 24-23 on Jim Bakken's 30-yard field goal on the final play of the game. It was the second time in the last three weeks the Eagles have bowed on the game's last play.

And Los Angeles, coasting along with six straight victories and comfortably in front in the NFC West Division, suffered a startling 24-23 setback at the hands of lowly San Francisco.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh knocked Houston out of a tie for the AFC Central lead, beating the Oilers 24-17. Cincinnati remained tied for the division lead with the Steelers, nipping Denver 17-16. Washington hung onto its share of the NFC East lead, beating the New York Giants 21-13.

In other games, it was Detroit 21, Cleveland 10; Oakland 48, New Orleans 10; Chicago 27, Green Bay 14; Miami 27, New York Jets 7, and New England 33, San Diego 19.

Kansas City plays at Dallas tonight, completing the NFL's eighth week of play.

Vikings 38, Falcons 0

Besides Krause's two interceptions, the Vikings forced six other Atlanta turnovers. Chuck Foreman scored three TDs for Minnesota.

"Sure, it was wet and cold," said Krause, "but it was fun. Football should be fun. That's what the game is all about."

Cardinals 24, Eagles 23

Bakken's last-play field goal lifted the 35-year-old Cardinal kicker into fourth place among all-time NFL scorers with 1,132 points.

The loss was the fifth straight for the luckless Eagles, who lost to Dallas on Toni Fritsch's last-play field goal two weeks ago.

"There's not much to say," said Coach Mike McCormack. "It's frustrating, it takes the guts out of you."

Colts 42, Bills 35

Lydell Mitchell scored three TDs and Bert Jones passed for two scores and ran for another as Baltimore bounced back against Buffalo.

Two of Mitchell's scores came in the fourth quarter and Jones added his 19-yard run in the period, keying the comeback.

Simpson gained 123 yards in the game, pushing his eightgame total to 1,128.

49ers 24, Rams 23

Los Angeles also was victimized by a late field goal, San Francisco's Steve Mike-Mayer booting a 54-yarder with just 38 seconds left to play.

LA had gone ahead with just 90 seconds to go on Jim Bertelsen's one-yard punge, capping an 80-yard drive.

Steve Spurrier, making his first start of the season, hurled three TD passes for the 49ers.

Steelers 24, Oilers 17

Terry Bradshaw threw three scoring passes, leading Pittsburgh past Houston. Bradshaw's third scoring pitch was a 21-yarder to John Stallworth that won it for the Steelers with only 38 seconds to play.

Bengals 17, Broncos 16

Cincinnati barely hung on to its share of the AFC Central lead, edging Denver on Boobie Clark's one-yard TD following a razzle-dazzle play that ate up 33 yards.

Ken Anderson hit Chip Meyers for eight yards and then Meyers lateralled to Isaac Curtis for 25 more, setting up Clark's TD that put Cincinnati in front to stay.

Redskins 21, Giants 13

Ex-Giant Randy Johnson, replacing injured Billy Kilmer, directed a pair of fourth-quarter TD drives as Washington overtook the New York Giants. Mike Thomas gained 125 yards rushing for the Redskins and helped set up TD bursts of one yard by Larry Brown and two yards by Bob Brunet that decided the game.

Dolphins 27, Jets 7

Miami burst out of a 7-7 tie, scoring two touchdowns inside of one minute in the third period to defeat the New York Jets.

Norm Bulaich scored on a 59-yard pass play from Bob Griese and then Freddie Solomon returned a punt 50 yards for another score as the Dolphins opened a two-game lead over Buffalo in the AFC East.

Raiders 48, Saints 10

Clarence Davis scored two TDs and Ken Stabler connected on a pair of long scoring pitches to Morris Bradshaw as Oakland beat New Orleans. Stabler completed 16 of 23 passes for 232 yards including touchdowns of 36 and 48 yards to Bradshaw.

Lions 21, Browns 10

Detroit tagged winless Cleveland with its eighth consecutive loss and won its second straight game with third-string quarterback Joe Reed at the controls.

Reed completed 10 of 17 passes for 133 yards including a 62-yarder to Ray Jarvis that set up the first Lion TD and a 21-yarder to Jarvis that produced the second score.

Bears 27, Packers 14

Chicago won the 112th renewal of the NFL's oldest rivalry as Craig Clemons returned a Green Bay interception 76 yards for a TD — the first the Bears have scored that way in six years.

Patriots 33, Chargers 19

New England stretched San Diego's losing streak to eight games with quarterback Steve Grogan passing for 214 yards and Bobby Howard returning an interception 44 yards for a TD.

There were a record-tying eight field goals in the game, four apiece by John Smith of the Patriots and Ray Werschling of San Diego.

Cowboys Face Chiefs Tonight

DALLAS (AP) — The one single weapon in the Kansas City arsenal feared most by Dallas Cowboy Coach Tom Landry is the good right instep of sidewinder kicking specialist Jan Stenerud.

"You always start about nine-zip against Kansas City because when you step out there you figure Stenerud is going to kick his three field goals before it is over," said Landry.

Going into tonight's nationally-televised National Football League game at Texas Stadium, Stenerud had hit 14 of 20 field goal attempts.

Cowboy kicker Toni Fritsch has either been very good — like his game-winner at the gun against Philadelphia — or very bad — like his duck-hooked 38-yard fluff in overtime in a 30-24 loss to Washington.

Dallas, which is 5-2, needs the victory to stay in a three-way tie with Washington and St. Louis in the highly competitive National Conference Eastern Division.

Kansas City is 3-4 and struggling for life in the AFC West.

Both teams come off hard losses last week. Dallas fell to Washington in overtime while Kansas City lost 17-13 to Houston.

Bill Walton, the man who's supposed to hold the key to Portland's basketball fortunes, sat on the bench and watched while LaRue Martin stole the show in the National Basketball Association's TV season premiere.

Martin, who's been starting at center for the Trail Blazers while Walton nurses a sprained ankle, scored 18 points and hauled down a career-high 22 rebounds to lead Portland to a 115-96 victory over the slumping New York Knicks Sunday in the first of the weekly series of nationally televised NBA contests.

"With Bill hurt, I got a chance to do something," said Martin, a 6-foot-11, fourth-year pro from Chicago Loyola who was the first player chosen in the NBA's 1972 draft, largely on the strength of an impressive collegiate outing against Walton. But Martin had done little to distinguish himself since then, averaging just 5.6 points and 4.6 rebounds per game over his first three pro seasons.

"I just got my head together, went out and did it," he said of his superb effort against the Knicks.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the New Orleans Jazz 111-97 and the Los Angeles Lakers topped the Kansas City Kings 125-112.

In Sunday's only American Basketball Association game, the Spirits of St. Louis trimmed the San Diego Sails 95-92.

Michigan, OSU Win

By JOE MOOSHIL

Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler gave his old boss Woody Hayes something to think about two weeks before their inevitable showdown for the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl berth.

The Wolverines, who went into the game ranked ninth in the conference in passing, compiled 218 yards passing to dump Purdue 28-0 Saturday, while Ohio State, the nation's No.1 team, was whipping Illinois 40-3.

Iowa defeated Wisconsin 45-28, Minnesota swept past Northwestern 33-9 and Michigan State downed Indiana 14-6.

Neither Ohio State nor Michigan appear to be in danger of being upset this Saturday before their Nov. 22 meeting at Ann Arbor. Ohio State entertains Minnesota, and Michigan plays at Illinois. Indiana will be at Wisconsin, Iowa at Purdue and Northwestern at Michigan State.

H&R Block Area Manager Attends Confab

Clay Howard, Area Manager for H & R Block, recently attended a regional conference in Chillicothe, an annual session of the nationwide income tax firm prior to the upcoming tax season.

One of the more than 30 throughout the county, the session covered discussion of new tax law changes in addition to ways of improving H & R Block office and customer service, Howard said.

"Of vital importance," Howard said, "was discussion of the Tax Reduction Act of 1975, the largest tax-cut measure in the history of the United States which will affect every American taxpayer this year."

Some of the tax topics covered included the personal exemption credit, the boost in the standard deduction, low-income allowance and filing requirements, the earned income credit, and the new-home purchase credit.

Elk's Night Of Harmony Draws Capacity Crowd

By BOB BENSONHAVER
Herald Staff Writer

If the annual Elks' Night of Harmony does nothing else, it gives the music departments of the four county high schools their long overdue recognition.

Of course, it does more than that. It provides a night of entertainment for Pickaway County residents. Entertainment that is not second rated. It provides, through ticket and program advertising sales, financial assistance to each of the school music departments and benefits the Elks' primary charity, cerebral palsy.

The third annual Night of Harmony, which was held Saturday at the Circleville High School Auditorium, was again superbly programmed for the over 550 people in attendance.

Pre-program entertainment was provided by former Logan Elm High School music teacher and pianist Robert Petty.

The program was humorously emceed by a delightful man, Gordon Fraser. Where have the Elks been hiding him?

Opening entertainment began with the Westfall High School Swing Choir.

The 12-member group, under the direction of Patricia Beathard, did Ed Lojeski's arrangement of "The Carpenter's 'Let Me Be the One'; humanistic philosophy song 'Beautiful City' and 'American Folk Trilogy'".

The trilogy was a medley of early American compositions consisting of "Dixie Land", "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "All My Trials".

A fourth number included in the repertoire was Besig and Henchen's "Better World".

The 21-member Westfall Lab Band was next on the agenda with five numbers featured.

Under the direction of James Kibby, the laboratory band, which includes flutes and clarinets, played Paul McCartney's composition of "Band on the Run" featuring the saxophones.

Kibby soloed on the Seals and Crofts tune "Diamond Girl". Other numbers performed were Lennon and McCartney's "Norwegian Wood", a standard "Tuxedo Junction" which featured Vernon Elliot playing the tuba and Fonda Howard playing the flute and Bill Haley's 1950 song which started it all, "Rock Around the Clock".

Second on the program was the Logan Elm High School Choir, under the direction of David Price.

Listening to the group makes one realize that Price may have his best LEHS choir.

The 39-member choir has attained perfection in enunciation of words and superb usage of dynamics.

The first two numbers, "O VES Omnes" by da Vittoria and "The Eyes of All Wait Upon Thee" by Jean Berger, were performed acapello.

The choir then sang "On The Morrow" arranged by Gaines with the girls ensemble following with magnificent harmony on Ron Nelson's arrangement of "Three Mountain Ballads".

Accompanist Cathy Watson did a fantastic job on the ivory as she assisted the choir with Slater's arrangement of Kamen and Frederick's "Fields of Joy".

Superb could only define the vocal harmony on Gargare's arrangement of John Farrar-Olivia Newton-John's song "Have You Never Been Mellow".

Logan Elm concluded their program with Cassey's arrangement of Michel Legrand's composition, "The Hands of Time" (Brian's Song).

Entertainment with a professional touch does not even come close to describing the Teays Valley vocal music department.

Under the magnificent direction of Miss Darlene Freeman, the program was comprised of four groups.

Choreography added the midas touch to the varsity vocals rendition of Fields and Coleman "The Rhythm of Life". It did what it said, "puts a tingle in your fingers, a tingle in your feet".

David Rainey substituted for the girls' trio and we were quite well-pleased. This young man puts forth a free-style brand of entertainment that cannot be matched. He sang "Lizzie and the Rainman".

The girls chorus vocalized next with Jim Croce's "Time in a Bottle" and Gold's arrangement of Julie Andrews' "Time Is My Friend".

The high school choir entered the stage to perform a modern contemporary-soul style version of Shaw and Miner's old gospel song "Bringing In The Sheaves" arranged by Coates Jr.

The group continued with Bricusse and Newley's "Who Can I Turn To?", and William L. Dawson's arrangement of "Ev'ry Time I Feel the Spirit" sung acapella.

Teays Valley concluded its program with "The Dream Is America", written by Leigh and Burr and arranged by Mann and Red. Commissioned by J. C. Penney, the music is included in the gift collection of music to the schools for the Bicentennial Musical Celebration.

The song stresses the past and future of America. "The dream grew in power and scope. The dream is to be free, a chance to do what you want to and be what you want to be and the dream is alive today."

The Circleville High School Stage Band, under the direction of Paul

King, was next on the program performing three superb numbers. As near to perfection as they could, the band played Bob Dowden's "If", Carole King's "I Feel the Earth Move" and Josef Zawinul's "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy".

The numbers featured a saxophone solo by John Neff, excellent piano and electric organ solos by Bill Ancira, and drum duet by Keith Connell and Raymond Nance. Although the CHS band will lose senior Nance, they've gained a replacement through the Connell boy, and he will make his mark.

Under the direction of Candace Rigo, the Circleville Choir continues to improve year after year.

Perfectly accompanied by Randy Wolfe, and CHS has been waiting a long time for him, the choir performed from the Godspell musical, Schwartz's arrangement of "O Bless the Lord, My Soul", and John Denver's "Annie's Song".

The girl's ensemble, magnificently accompanied by pianist Cathy Wellman, did Lojeski's arrangement of "Kim Ba Yah".

The song "Movin' On" featured sophomore soloist Connie Mercer and flutist Kathy Fisher.

The Tiger Choir concluded the high schools portion of the program with the Up With Peoples song "Which Way America?" arrange by Allen

The program would not have been complete if the Elks Singers did not perform some of the barbershop harmony for which they are so well-known.

Under the direction of Terry Anderson and accompanied by Nancy Happeney, the singers sang familiar tunes such as "Edelweiss", "Somewhere Over the Rainbow", "Barbershop Medley", "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Keep America Singing".

Words cannot describe how much good the annual Night of Harmony does for everybody. The evening program netted approximately $3500 to divide among the schools and for cerebral palsy, but it's more than that. It is encouragement and moral support for those students who are involved in the art of vocal and instrumental music.

If you missed Saturday's show, make plans to attend it next year.

Money in the bank can put a camera in your pocket.

Kodak's HAWKEYE pocket INSTAMATIC camera outfit.

Only $9.95 plus tax when you deposit $100 or more in a new or existing savings account or new checking account.

Here's the camera small enough and light enough to let you take sharp, clear pictures whenever and wherever you like. It comes complete with a cartridge of Kodacolor II film, a four-flash magicube and extender, wrist strap and instruction manual.

Just drop in the film cartridge, aim and shoot. That's how easy it is for anyone to get beautiful 3 1/2 x 4 1/2-inch color or black-and-white snapshots, even color slides.

You'll find this camera value only at our bank, and at any of the more than 200 BancOhio Corporation affiliate bank offices all around the state.

Better hurry. Your memories can last forever. But this offer won't.
